VIDEO: Creating a Safer Workplace with National Marker Company

Brought To You by National Marker Company | Nov 20, 2020

As a leading manufacturer of safety identification, National Marker Company (NMC) recently became inundated with an increased demand for communication. NMC quickly created over 4,000 new products to meet the need for new signage related to social distancing, new procedures, hygiene reminders, and more. With the increased production, NMC needed to pivot its own manufacturing floor and schedules. Leading from the top, they implemented many new policies while applauding their team for achieving both production goals and safety requirements.
