Brought To You by SHOWA | Feb 07, 2023

Video Highlights

In this episode of MSC's Tooling Up Mitch Free is joined by Matt Piotrowski, senior product manager at SHOWA. Matt and Mitch discuss how SHOWA lives out their core mantra of "always innovating, never imitating" by becoming one of the most innovative developers of hand protection in the world. Pioneers in single-use glove technology, SHOWA recently celebrated the 10-year anniversary of their patented single-use or "biodegradable" technology that decomposes substantially faster than their competitors. With careful consideration given to the gloves at every point in their development, SHOWA brand single use gloves are easily the most recognizable and well-crafted products of their kind, with applications across many industries around the world.
