| Nov 16, 2023

Video Highlights

In this episode of MSC's Tooling Up, Toni Neary is joined by Erinn Waggoner, Executive Director of Product and Innovation for Strong Hold for a discussion on rigging storage products offered by Strong Hold for a diverse array of clients.

The conversation highlights the importance of safety and efficiency when designing rigging storage due to the inherent heavy-weight use of the units. Erinn Waggoner explains the diligent culture Strong Hold has when it comes to the design, development, validation and testing of its products. The interview focuses on the customization Strong Hold offers to its customers across multiple industries including aerospace defense, automotive, cranes and aeronautics.

Equally as important, we get a look into Strong Hold's commitment to remain agile even as the company increases its SKUs and diversifies its products to meet each customer's specific needs. Strong Hold achieves design, testing and delivery of customized solutions for safe rigging storage in as little as 4 weeks and only 2 days for non-customized products.

With Strong Hold's invaluable offerings for its customers looking for efficient storage systems, this is an episode you are sure to enjoy.
