VIDEO: TOOLING UP: Accupro Indexables: The Only Cutting Tools You'll Ever Need

| Aug 01, 2025

Video Highlights

In this episode of MSC's Tooling Up, Toni Neary is joined by Michael Gomez, Principal R&D Engineer at MSC for a discussion on their newest line of Accupro indexable cutting tools.

Accupro has become synonymous with cost-effective yet high-performance cutting solutions. Michael explains the evolution of Accupro's focus, introducing a new indexable tooling line that encompasses turning, grooving, and milling tools. These tools are equipped with unique chip breakers and an innovative insert classification system, simplifying tool selection and enhancing performance across various applications. You'll learn more about Accupro's indexable line, like its improved surface finishes in milling inserts and versatile grooving inserts capable of both groove turning and parting. Michael emphasizes the rigorous R&D process behind these tools, highlighting the company's commitment to maximizing efficiency and productivity for customers.

If you want to learn how indexable tooling can increase your efficiency and productivity, this is the Tooling Up video for you.
